On Sunday, November 2, 2014, at approximately 4:31 a.m., uniformed officers responded to assist another jurisdiction that was involved in a traffic pursuit. The pursuit entered Fairfax County at Stonecroft Boulevard and Lee Jackson Memorial Highway in Chantilly.

The first officer joined the pursuit in an unmarked police vehicle. As the pursuit continued through Fairfax County, additional officers, in marked police vehicles, joined at various locations. The driver drove his vehicle into a cul-de-sac on Indian Rock Road near Cabells Mill Road. The driver circled the cul-de-sac and attempted to exit where he had entered. The driver struck the first officer's unmarked police vehicle and a citizen's unoccupied parked vehicle. A second officer arrived and utilized his marked police vehicle to block the driver's exit from the cul-de-sac. The driver reversed his vehicle and made another attempt to exit the cul-de-sac from a different direction. The first officer then discharged his service weapon at the vehicle's tires. The second officer then successfully used his police vehicle to pin the driver's vehicle against an unoccupied citizen's parked vehicle to prevent escape. The driver was then arrested.

There were no injuries as a result of the service weapon discharge.
